Cambridge-Dresden Bioelectronics Symposium

Call for Abstracts

The Cambridge–Dresden Bioelectronics Symposium is an international, top-tier conference that brings together world-leading experts, young researchers, and industry partners to showcase and shape the future of bioelectronics. We would like to invite you to submit abstracts for the symposium on the following topics:

- Bioelectronic Materials & Interfaces
- Soft, Flexible & Stretchable Electronics
- Sensors & Transducers for Biological Signals
- Implantable & Wearable Bioelectronics Devices
- Neural Engineering & Brain-Machine Interfaces
- Printed & Additive Manufacturing for Bioelectronics
- Biohybrid & Living Systems Integration
- Data Processing, Modeling & AI For Bioelectronics Systems
- Applications in Medicine, Health & Environmental Monitoring
- Ethical, Societal & Translational Aspects

Symposium

After two successful editions in Cambridge, the Cambridge–Dresden Bioelectronics Symposium will be hosted 2026 in Dresden for the first time. The symposium will take place on June 15–16, 2026, at the Center for Regenerative Therapies Dresden (CRTD - Fetscherstraße 105 , 01307 Dresden, Germany).

Deadlines

28.02.2026	Abstract submission
09.03.2026	Notification of acceptance of submitted contributions
01.05.2026	Publication of the symposium program
30.04.2026	End of early bird registration

Language

The symposium will be held in English.

Abstracts

Please submit your abstract by February 28, 2026, via the submission link below:

<https://eventclass.it/bes2026>

Abstracts should follow the topic outline provided, be written in English, and not exceed 2,500 characters (including spaces). Abstracts should not contain any images.

All submissions will be reviewed by the scientific committee, with notification of acceptance by March 9, 2026.

Information on accepted contributions will be published in the symposium materials and on the symposium website.

Publication

The symposium contributions will be compiled into a volume published within the “Emerging Technologies” series (www.worldscientific.com/series/wset). We invite you to contribute a chapter to our book project and would be delighted to count you among our authors.
